LIST OF FIGURES

Figure No.	Title	Page No.
1.1	Significance of entrepreneurship	12
1.2	Role played by women entrepreneurs	23
1.3	5M Model (Brush et al, 2009)	34
1.4	6M Model	36
1.5	Conceptual framework	37
1.6	Map of Sonitpur district	41
3.1	Percentage distribution of age at the time of starting entrepreneurial activity	81
3.2	Percentage distribution of educational level of respondents	84
3.3	Percentage Distribution of Technical Education of Women Entrepreneurs	85
3.4	Percentage distributions of respondents based on Status of training	86
3.5	Percentage distribution of marital status of women entrepreneurs	87
3.6	Percentage distribution of family structure of women entrepreneur	88
3.7	Percentage distribution of respondents based on number of dependent family members	89
3.8	Caste-wise percentage distribution of respondents	90
3.9	Percentage distribution of respondents based on forms of entrepreneurial activities	92

3.10	Percentage distribution of respondents based on origin of business	93
3.11	Percentage distribution of respondents based on location of enterprise	94
3.12	Percentage distribution of respondents based on legal structure of enterprises	96
3.13	Percentage distribution of respondents based on monthly capital investment	97
3.14	Percentage distribution of respondents based on monthly income	98
3.15	Percentage distributions of respondents based on employment generation	100
3.16	Percentage distribution of specialisation of products (traditional/non-traditional)	101
3.17	Percentage distributions of respondents based on assistance received from government	103
3.18	Percentage distribution of respondents based on awareness about government policies	104
3.19	Percentage distributions of major broad categories of Women run enterprises in Sonitpur	106
3.20	Percentage distribution of factors motivating women entrepreneur	109
3.21	Percentage distributions of registered respondents in Sonitpur district	110
4.1.	Respondents involved in various enterprises	116
4.2	Infrastructure facilities available for different categories of entrepreneurs.	118
4.3	Percentage distribution of respondents based on	120

	hobby classes
4.4	Classification of respondents based on about the infrastructure facility	124
5.1	Percentage distribution of respondents based on the specialisation of products (Traditional items / non-traditional items)	129
5.2	Area-wise (Urban) classification of respondents engaged in traditional and non-traditional items	131
5.3	Rural Entrepreneur engaged on Traditional and Non-traditional items	132
6.1	Percentage of Caste wise beneficiaries of MUDRA Scheme (From 1st April 2015 to 31st March 2018)	148
6.2	MUDRA Yojana Assam budget distribution	149
6.3	Institutional assistance received by respondents	167
6.4	Opinion of respondents on new liberal economic policy	168
7.1	Block/Town wise credit allocation for the year 2018-19	184
8.1.1	Classification of challenges faced by respondents at the time of starting enterprises	192
8..2.1	Classification of Challenges of respondents during the time of running enterprise	199
8.3.1.	Other problems of women entrepreneurs	207
9.1.1.	Number of women entrepreneurs (Urban/Rural)	213
9.1.2.	Pie Chart showing the legal structure of respondents	214
9.1.3.	Age-wise classification of respondents	215
9.1.4.	Percentage distribution of educational Level of respondents	216
9.1.5.	Percentage distribution of technical education of	217

	respondents
9.1.6.	Percentage distribution of marital Status of respondents	218
9.1.7.	Percentage distribution of respondents in specialization of products	219
9.1.8.	Percentage distribution of respondents in forms of business	220
9.1.9.	Percentage distribution of respondents in location of enterprise	221
9.1.10.	Percentage distribution of respondents based on assistance received from Government	222
9.7.1	MUDRA Yojana Assam budget distribution	244